

Civil War Threatens 2 Irish Governments

Murders and Guerrilla Fighting
Are Rampant in Belfast and Dublin

CONFERENCE IS CALLED

Extremist Leaders in Republican Army Are Talking About Military Dictator

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Great Britain's intervention in the crises which threaten Ireland Saturday met with cool response from the Ulster government at Belfast, where the trouble is worst.

Sir James Craig, northern premier is understood to have telegraphed Winston Churchill, minister for the colonies that he would call a cabinet meeting Friday to consider the British invitation to a conference with southern leaders.

Dublin telegrams Saturday said Michael Collins, Arthur Griffith and Eamon Duggan, all ministers of home affairs, would respond immediately to the British invitation and arrive in London Monday.

No definite date for the proposed conference has been set.

Later it was announced from Belfast that the Ulster government would meet Monday to consider Churchill's invitation instead of Friday as originally planned.

By Ed L. Keen
London.—Each of Ireland's two newly born governments was faced with the crisis of its brief existence Saturday.

Sectarian murder in Belfast was at its height, with terrible reprisals threatened for the weekend.

In Dublin, the southern provisional government fears open revolt of a section of the Irish republican army will result from Sunday's unauthorized convention of republican troops.

Along the border between the two states sporadic guerrilla warfare and constant murders seem to presage inevitable general conflict between forces of the north and south.

ORDER CONFERENCE

The British government views the situation with "increasing alarm" and has summoned leaders of Ireland's new governments to London for a conference Sunday. The test of whether Sir James Craig and Michael Collins can control their followers has come.

Belfast leaders are forward with anxiety to the weekend, when leisure from work in the shipyards furnishes extremist factions with opportunity for outrage and reprisals.

Ten persons were murdered in Ulster Friday.

Extremist leaders in the Irish republican army have brought matters to the "show down" stage with their insistence upon Sunday's convention, which Arthur Griffith as president of the day forbade. The gathering of military leaders in Dublin, Sunday will determine the strength of Griffith, Collins and the state supporters.

Talk of a "military dictatorship" to replace the southern provisional government is in the air.

TROOPS ENTRENCHED

Along the 50 mile border "battle front" Ulster constabulary and volunteers still lay entrenched, repulsing occasional raids by state supporters, squadrons. Three killings were reported from contact points along the Tyrone frontier Friday night.

Destruction of property as well as constant rifle fire, marked the activity of each side Saturday. Barbed wire has been used to fortify important sectors along the Tyrone, Fermanagh, and Monaghan fronts. Fairs and markets in the vicinity of the battle zone have been abandoned by the civilian population and great suffering has resulted. Inhabitants of this part of Ireland are practically dependent upon such intercourse for their livelihood.

The British government, it was said, authoritatively Saturday is anxious that the new Irish states shall straighten out these difficulties themselves if possible. To determine their ability, Collins and Craig have been requested to come to London for Sunday's conference.

The five passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. August Butte, all of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. John S. Dickson of Memphis.

FORD PLANT TO BE OPERATED ON 5-DAY SCHEDULE

Two Days Off Each Week. Will be Given Employees of Ford Motor Company

By United Press Leased Wire
Detroit.—Fifty thousand employees of the Ford Motor company will enjoy two days off each week in the future.

Edsel Ford, president of the company, announced Saturday a policy of a five-day, forty-hour week, would be placed into effect immediately. The minimum wage of six dollars a day will be continued.

Ford said that every man needed more than one day a week for rest and time to devote to home life.

"The announcement is in line with the policy of the company to allow all men to profit because of steady work, with ample leisure," he said.

"Market demands warrant operation six days a week, but we are satisfied that five days of work will be practical. The change will give employment to three thousand additional men."

No plans have been made for the installation of the five-day week on the Ford railroad, the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton.

IRON WORKS TO PUT UP NEW BUILDING

Plans Are Being Prepared for Modern Structure for Northern Company

The Northern Boiler Structural Iron Works, which has outgrown its present quarters, is preparing plans for a new plant, which may possibly be built the coming summer. Plans are being prepared by Edward Kottke, the firm's engineer.

The new plant will be built on the site of the present one which it will envelop and which will be removed when the new plant is completed. In this way there will be no interruption of work during the construction period.

The new building will be 80 by 100 feet in size and of sufficient height to accommodate two traveling cranes. It will be constructed of tile and concrete and will be one of the most modern structures of its kind in Fox river valley.

RAID IRISH OFFICER

London.—Intelligence section of the Irish office in Queen Anne's street was raided and raided by agents of Irish extremists here Friday night.

Nothing of value was obtained. Confidential documents were recently removed from the Irish office which is to cease many of its functions with establishment of the free state.

The purpose of the raid was believed to have been an attempt to secure names of informants during the British occupancy of Ireland for the purpose of retaliation, possibly by a fresh murder campaign on the part of Irish extremists.

Many of De Valera's followers have expressed doubt of the sincerity and completeness of the British retirement from Ireland and may have thought to obtain evidence to support their stand.

HARDING WILL KEEP HIS HANDS OFF OHIO RACE

President Wants it to be Known
He Will Not Take Part in Senatorial Primary

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—President Harding will remain neutral in the fight to be made in his home state of Ohio for the senatorial nomination. He told Representative Burton that, while he was friendly disposed to him and wished him luck if he ran for the senate, there would be no administration candidate at the primaries or a party convention if one should be held.

Mr. Harding has been besieged by his friends in Ohio to take sides. Some have gone ahead and created the impression that he favored a particular candidate according as it helped to spread such a thought in political circles. But when Mr. Burton went to the White House he found the president very anxious to have it known that he would not interfere.

Besides Mr. Burton, there is talk of Representative Longworth, the son-in-law of the late President Roosevelt, Representative Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican congressional committee and Walter Brown, who has been working on a government reorganization plan for the president.

Although Ohio politics are especially interesting because the president hails from that state, the situation gives a glimpse into national politics. For one thing the strength of Senator Arthur F. Pomerene, Democrat, who is up for reelection, is conceded by the Republicans. They whisper to one another that Pomerene will be a hard man to defeat as he has shown rare courage during his term of office. He won fame by his relentless prosecution of the Newberry case when it seemed to be the desire of a group in the senate to let it slumber.

The administration of course is eager to see Pomerene replaced by a Republican senator, but for the moment it is concerned about who shall oppose him. Friends of the president are divided in their support of the various candidates. It would be embarrassing for the administration to take sides even if it did have a preference.

FINAL CONTEST IN MUSIC TO BE HELD MONDAY

Total of 295 Children Will Take Final Tests — Musical Program Arranged

Two hundred ninety-five children will take part in the final competitive concert of the music memory contest at 7:30 Monday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Judges will correct the papers and grade them immediately so the winners can be announced.

The gathering is planned for the general public as well as the children and those in charge desire to have parents and friends of the contestants attend. A concert by Appleton musicians will follow the windup of the contest.

Children who take the final tests are expected to report at the side door of the chapel at 7 o'clock, where they will be registered and numbered by the clerks. Each will be provided with a lapboard and blanks for the contest. Papers will be collected and submitted to the judges, who will begin the work of grading at once.

The first ward school with 99 entrants has the highest number of contestants. The second ward has 84, third ward, 26, fourth ward, 13, fifth ward, 49, and sixth ward, 20.

Mrs. D. O. Kinsman will give a short address on "Why Have a Music Memory Contest?" after the competitive musical numbers are rendered. The remaining program includes selections by Fullinwider String quartet, vocal solos by Harry Wilson and Mrs. W. T. Lazzar, piano numbers by Mrs. Eric Lindberg and an organ program by Frank A. Taber, Jr. No admission will be charged.

RICKARD OFFERS ALIBI AS DEFENSE

New York.—Efforts are to be made next week by his attorneys to strengthen an alibi introduced Friday for George L. (Tex) Rickard, sports promoter being tried in supreme criminal court for alleged mistreatment of little girls.

Supporting the alibi Friday was testimony given by Dr. John H. Rickard, who attended the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Frank Flounery, match maker for the promoter; Mrs. Helen D. Tillotson; head of the stenographic department of the New York Trust company, and others.

Attorney Max D. Steuer sought to prove that Rickard was attending a football game at a time when it was alleged Sarah Schoenfeld was with him in his apartment.

City Mothers Begin Work By "Cleaning Up"

By United Press Leased Wire
Des Moines, N. D.—The first thing Des Moines' feminine administration is going to do is clean up headquarters. Cuspidors will have no place at meeting of the village council. Desks will be cleared and records tidied up.

Eight women took over the village government Friday night, and Des Moines today is the only place in the United States entirely governed by women.

"When we said we were going to have a bigger better and cleaner Des Moines we meant it," said Mrs. H. L. Halvorson, chairman of the village board. "We are going to start in with the council's affairs."

"We have a lot to learn and it will take us a little time to get the drift of things."

The women will put the men to work.

Railroad Workers In Alliance With Miners

He was out of employment and had no money to pay rent, authorities declared.

One of the boys died a few hours later in a hospital. The other may recover, physicians said.

BELIEVE TERRORISTS

Sympathetic Strikes on Railroads May Result from Miner Walkout

U. S. TO PROTECT PROPERTY

Warning Will be Issued That Violence Will Bring Government Wrath

Cleveland, O.—Close alliance between the four million railroad workers of the country and the four hundred thousand coal miners during the miners strike called for midnight March 31, was apparent Saturday.

Action which will be taken by the railroad unions during the mine strike was problematical.

The general policy committee of the United Mine Workers was on record as having unanimously approved the call for strike of coal miners.

Possibility of probable concerted action by rail and mine workers are based on the following significant development at the miners meeting here:

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, obtained the promise of W. S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, as a "rail chief and citizen" to support and assist the miners.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE

Lewis remained in Cleveland Saturday to confer with W. L. Lee, chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and possibly officials of other railroad brotherhoods.

Twenty thousand Norfolk & Western railroad shop crafts employees announced a sympathetic strike on the railroad that is said to carry eighty per cent of the nonunion coal mined in the United States.

A resolution urging 200,000 non-union miners in the United States and Canada to unite with the union miners in the strike was on its way to the miners.

Reports claimed to have been received by several members of the general policy committee of the miners, said employees of some railroads were planning to refuse to handle cars carrying nonunion coal.

Sixty million tons of coal will be on hand, mostly at the mines April 1, and will not be available unless it can be distributed.

More than 50,000 railroad telegraphers already have ratified the "protective agreement" in which they agree to support the miners in any wage controversy.

WILL PROTECT PROPERTY

Washington.—The government has decided on a program of protection for the public during the walkout of miners scheduled to start one week from Saturday.

At midnight March 31 the government will issue a communication to federal agents throughout the nation outlining its course of action during the strike.

The government will:

1. Order all agents to protect mining property against any violence.
2. Warn both sides against violence and declare the attitude of the government as "impartial" except in so much as the public interests are concerned.
3. Advise the federal departments of civil and state authorities in the enforcement of law.
4. Announce the miners must not interfere with miners who want to work if the operators choose to keep the mines open.

INDIANAPOLIS MAYOR SENDS FLOWERS TO HAWES

Two big baskets of flowers, the gifts of Samuel Lewis Shank, mayor of Indianapolis, Ind., through Appleton green houses, were received Saturday by Mayor J. A. Hawes of this city.

The national flower show opened Saturday in Indianapolis and throughout the country Saturday was celebrated as "Say It With Flowers day." Mayors of many cities in the United States received baskets of flowers from Mayor Shank Saturday.

Cards were attached to the flower baskets which read: "On the opening of the fifth national flower show today it gives me great pleasure to send a message of flowers by wire to you. Samuel Lewis Shank."

Will Ask League To Approve New Pact

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The league of nations may be asked to give formal approval to the four-power Pacific treaty after the three other signatory powers have followed the example set Friday by the senate in ratifying it.

Direct approval by the league would stamp the treaty before the world as a treaty for peace and would silence critics who claim it is antagonistic to the spirit of the league, it was pointed out Saturday by Republican senators, to whom information has come that one of the signatory powers may ask the league's action.

It was further intimated that the league would request the pact as a "regional understanding for securing the maintenance of peace." Such arrangements are specifically endorsed by article 21 of the league covenant.

Opportunity for asking the league formally to stamp the pact as an instrument of peace will be given by the requirement of the league covenant for the registering by member nations of all treaties they make. Until Great Britain, France and Japan, all league members, have registered the treaty at Geneva, it will not bind any of them, some authorities here believe.

The senate's action Friday made the United States the first of the four-powers to ratify. The other governments made no secret of the fact that they were waiting for the senate's verdict. Had it been adverse, they would have dropped not only the four-power treaty but all the other arms conference treaties as well, in the opinion of the American officials.

Administration officials look for speedy ratification in Tokio, Paris and London.

GRAEF REELECTED AS PRESIDENT OF CIVIC CHAMBER

Directors Select Officers at

Lothar G. Graef was reelected president of the chamber of commerce by a virtually unanimous vote at a meeting of the new board of directors in the French room of the Sherman house Friday afternoon attended by 14 men.

J. D. Steele was elected first vice-president and J. P. Frank second vice-president. R. S. Powell was reelected treasurer for another year.

Standing committees are to be drafted and chairman appointed at a meeting of the new officers Saturday. A program then will be outlined for the coming year and unfinished projects carried to completion.

MAKERS OF KNIT GOODS HEAR TALK ON COST SYSTEM

A district meeting of the Wisconsin Knit Goods Manufacturers association which includes the cities of Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, De Pere, Green Bay, Sheboygan, Merrill, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac was held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening and was presided by a supporter.

William Ford of Milwaukee, a cost expert, delivered the principal address which was followed by a discussion on the adoption of a uniform cost system toward which the manufacturers are working.

George H. Packard, vice president and manager of Appleton Superior Knitting Works, was the originator of the Wisconsin Knit Goods association.

The manufacturers became so suspicious of each other during the war that he called a meeting at Milwaukee in 1918 to see if they could eliminate this feeling and work together for the good of the country and their patrons generally.

The association was organized and now extends all over the United States. It represents an annual manufactured product of $400,000,000.

The country is divided into four districts. Western association, Cleveland association, Philadelphia association and Eastern association.

TOWNLEY SINGS "SWAN SONG" AT N-P GATHERING

League Leader Declares He Will Quit Because He Lost League's Confidence

Fargo, N. D. — Arthur C. Townley will resign as national president of the Nonpartisan league after the Minnesota state convention March 31, he announced Saturday.

"Townley said his usefulness to the league is over in his 'swan song' to the convention of the organization here."

"I have lost your confidence through the efforts of this man here," he shouted, pointing to A. A. Lieberman, state chairman of the league.

Lieberman made a sensational attack on Townley before the convention.

Townley made his sensational attack in his eyes as he reached the climax of his speech and he broke down completely. He was unable to continue for several minutes.

SECOND "BOHEMIAN" TRIES TO END LIFE

Chicago.—May Cramer, the second member of Chicago's newly established Bohemian artist colony to attempt suicide within a week, was near death at Columbus hospital Saturday. She took seven bichloride of mercury tablets, after leaving a note "no one cares for me and I am tired of life."

Letters from her husband pleading with her to return to her Princeton, Indiana, home were found in her room.

Mrs. Cramer, who said she was a friend of Mary Lieberman, 17-year-old girl who tried suicide in the same manner after seeking in vain for employment in the Bohemian colony.

The girl left half a dozen suicide notes which had been torn in scraps and thrown on the floor until she finally got one that suited her.

MAY START CLASS IN TREE SURGERY

Prof. F. A. Aust of the University of Wisconsin, who has made a study of tree damage in the Fox river valley has announced to Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, that he will form a class in tree surgery here under direction of the university extension division if there is enough of a demand for the course.

Leaves would deni largely with the correct ways of trimming and pruning trees and shrubbery damaged by the sleet storms and would be principally for the layman and not the professional tree doctor.

Mr. Corbett wants those interested in such a class to give him their names or telephone the chamber of commerce office. Prof. Aust then will decide whether a class may be started.

JAPANESE GRATIFIED BY U. S. RATIFICATION

Tokio.—Japanese officials expressed themselves Saturday as highly gratified over the action of the United States Senate Friday in ratifying the four-power Pacific treaty.

They declared that there was no objection on the part of Japan to the Brandegee reservation which the senate passed, adding that it was looked upon by their government as inconsequential.

TRAINED SOCIAL WORKERS NEEDED IN EVERY CITY

Cooperation in Social Work is Urged by Two Speakers Friday Afternoon

Edward D. Lynde, executive secretary of Wisconsin state conference of social workers, addressed an audience of Appleton people interested in social work, Friday afternoon at the Appleton Women's club rooms. Mr. Lynde made a plea for all local organizations to cooperate with one another and with the state. Local problems can only be met successfully by combined action, he said.

One of the first problems which the speaker presented was that of feeble mindedness. He stated that 65 per cent of the feeble mindedness in the world is due to heredity, and that 500 feeble minded people are now waiting for admission into state institutions in Wisconsin.

About $1,500,000 was spent last year on institutions for the chronic insane, Mr. Lynde said. Insanity is preventable if the right measures are taken at the right time.

NEED TRAINED WORKERS

For all these problems it is necessary to have workers and trained workers are by far the more satisfactory, Mr. Lynde said. He made a plea for more people to take the four month's training course for social workers which is conducted by the Wisconsin State Conference of Social Work. However, he continued, the workers cannot accomplish anything if they stand alone; they must have a sympathetic and understanding public to back them up.

Especially did he stress the care of neglected children. He said it was very fine indeed to have public playgrounds in a town but it was also necessary to have play leaders, who are trained, and who will direct the play of the children in the right channels. Mr. Lynde expressed the hope that the next conference could be held in Appleton as it is near the center of the state.

Mrs. George A. Buckstaff, Oshkosh, member of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin, spoke next on "Our part in the state program for social work." Mrs. Buckstaff stressed especially the care of younger children, stating that neglected children become a decayed part in society. People should become more economical, said Mrs. Buckstaff, but they must not think that by cutting out dentist bills they are saving anything for in a few years the bills will be so much higher. Just so, she said, the small child should be taken care of especially the feeble minded before he becomes grown up and becomes a detriment to society.

Why Not Furnish Rural Carrier With Airplane?

Davis nature has the rural mail carriers in a quandary as to how to deliver all of their mail every day. Perhaps they will call on an inventive genius to help them out.

It all happens this way. Roads leading east and west are drifted high with snow of the last storm. Roads going north and south were washed over by the flaky avalanche and are bare. If a carrier uses a buggy he cannot get through the drifts. If he uses a sleigh he has difficulty where there is no snow.

All seven of the Appleton carriers used sleighs and tried other ways of reaching farmhouses on barren roads. They are thinking it will be necessary to invent a rig such that wheels or runners may be used, just as needed.

One of the freaks of the storm encountered by John Freude, carrier of route No. 2 is a deep drift on Medina rd. between the A. Fetznick and E. Palmbeach farms. Mr. Freude cannot recall one instance in his 20 years of service when there was a drift at this point. Several horses have floundered in the drift and had to be shoveled out by farmers.

The only explanation that seems plausible is that a wire fence of the openwork wire type became a barrier to the drifts when the sleet covered it and the progress of the snow was halted just where it could pile on the road.

Many home owners found their roofs leaking, some of them so badly that the roofs had to be reshingled or resealed immediately to prevent damage to the interior. Water beneath the shingles froze and forced openings in many spots. These leaks were discovered with dismay when spots appeared on ceilings. Dealers in shingles and roofing therefore are reaping a mild harvest as an aftermath of the storms.

Last Of The Recipes Are Printed Herewith Today

Today the Post-Crescent is printing the last of the recipes submitted during the contest which started early in the year. More than 500 recipes of various kinds have been printed, making a valuable contribution to the collection of hundreds of cook books.

The contest was started in cooperation with the home economics department of Appleton Women's club which is using many of the recipes in a cook book which it will publish in the near future. Many recipes were received after the contest closed and it was announced that no more would be received for publication. These recipes were turned over to the women's club and very likely will be used in its cook book.

The Post-Crescent is very grateful to the hundreds of Appleton women who helped make this department a success.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a headache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It's this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

CHURCH VISITORS TO MAKE CALLS AT HOMES ON SUNDAY

First Congregational Church Holds Event Postponed From Last Week

Captains and workers who make the annual social visitation to every home in the congregational parish are to meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the church for a brief conference after which they will start making their calls.

The visitation was planned for last Sunday but was postponed on account of the storm. Members have been notified through the March issue of the monthly publication, "Our Church," circulated this week that they are to remain at home Sunday afternoon to receive the visitors.

The church takes this means of stimulating the interest and good will of the congregation and of giving a personal contact of the institution with the aged and shut-ins. Every fall a financial canvass is made but the church arranges one visit each year with its objects other than mercenary. It is expected that prospective members also will be obtained through the visitation.

Team workers are expected to complete their calls about 5 o'clock and report at the church to the committee in charge between 5:30 and 6 o'clock. They are given until Thursday to complete calls upon people who were not found at home Sunday.

"One-hundred per cent Sunday," which was announced for March 26 also has been deferred one week. A vigorous campaign will be waged to have every member present at one of the services on Sunday, April 2, and attendance will be recorded at that time.

To Address Pupils

Frank Shattuck of Neenah is to speak before the intermediate department of the First Congregational Sunday School at 10 o'clock Sunday morning on "Stewardship." This is one of a series of talks by special speakers at the weekly class sessions.

WATER REACHES HIGHEST LEVEL OF 1922 SEASON

Open Dams to Accommodate Extra Flow of Water—Keep Wheels Open

All the paper and pulp mills have been notified to open their water wheels when they close down Sunday because of high water.

The water reached its highest level of the season Friday, making it necessary to open the sluice gates of the upper dam.

Six and one fourth sections of the eleven sections of needles and the upper row of slash boards were removed Friday to accommodate the extra volume of water.

The level of the river has not yet reached high water mark, but is headed in that direction. The run Friday night will not be noticeable until Saturday or Sunday morning.

The needles at the head of the Paten canal are ready for use at a moment's notice in the event the water should overflow its banks. No damage in this direction, however, is anticipated.

With the great depth of snow in the northern part of the state indications are the paper mills will have more water than they can use for some time to come.

SEEDS FOR CONGRESS

It used to be the practice in our free and untrammelled America, along the little-populated frontiers where a few votes might elect a senator and the swinging of a town meant the swinging of a legislative majority and various lucrative concessions, to buy ballots as openly and as innocently as the purchase of a smoked ham. Instances have been recorded where a wagonload of illegal votes was calmly bid for by opposing henchmen, led to the polls by the winner and paid off without public comment. The chief survival of this jovial and aboveboard scheme appears to be the pitiful annual expenditure by congress of funds for garden seeds to be mailed free to constituents. The opposition, presumably, can bribe back with bigger garden seeds if it pleases.

This year $360,000 of public funds has been appropriated by a vote of 173 to 142 in the lower house, all of it to enable the free seed farce to go on during 1922. Since congress presumes that a present of garden seeds will hold an American citizen's vote in line, it would probably be no less logical and no more of an insult to presume that a citizen could retaliate with a garden schedule promising his congressman four fine packages of sunflower seed for a favorable vote on an appended list of measures and a dozen Amsterdam tulip bulbs for a vote against the free seed appropriation next year.

EDISON'S MONEY

Thomas Edison, having thoroughly enjoyed his first intelligence questionnaires, has now turned the method against the gold standard, upon which he appears to be in full accord with Henry Ford. In a series of twenty-six pertinent questions Mr. Edison asks America to answer him why it wouldn't be possible to substitute for gold a currency based on warehouse goods and public projects such as irrigation areas.

The magazine Commerce and Finance remarks that he should have added a twenty-seventh query: "What is there about the money question which enables it to queer the soundest practical minds from Benjamin Franklin to Peter Cooper; and from Cooper to Edison and Ford?" The editor—who is Theodore H. Price, one of the best known economists in America—then goes on to answer each of Edison's twenty-six features, rationally and pleasantly puncturing each of the twenty-six fallacies the famous inventor attempts to establish.

Mr. Price agrees that money issued against merchandise would not produce the dangerous distension caused by the unsecured issue of paper money, and that it would be very much like the bank check money used by millions in America every day; but it would have to be retired as the merchandise was sold and if used by international agreement in trade, even if such agreement were politically possible, it would not be convertible and there would be no standard of value in which to measure the balances due. "In what form would they be paid?" he asks, "Gold dollars, wheat dollars, cotton dollars, or tobacco dollars?"

"An abstract measure of value," Price adds, "would be ideal if the world can ever be educated to use it."

The point is that we must have some measure for trade, which gold supplies because its purchasing power varies less than any other physical standard yet used. When currency gets away from such a standard there is no way for buyer and seller to transact their business safely; and, as in the case of the wretched fiat-money nations of middle Europe, business either stops or is rushed on to ruin by further issue.

AUTOMOBILES AND LIVING STANDARDS

Is there significance in automobile statistics that the standard of living is higher in the United States because more than eighty-three per cent of all the motor cars in the world are owned in this country? In all parts of the world 12,589,949 automotive vehicles are in use, of which 10,506,660 are in the United States? In Europe there are 1,110,996; in Asia 134,730; in Oceania 125,281; in Africa 53,832; and in all the Americas 11,162,110. Great Britain has 497,582, Canada 463,448, France 234,146, Germany 91,381, Argentina 75,000, Australia 73,900, Italy 53,000, India 45,983, Russia 35,000, Mexico 25,000, Japan 12,260, Switzerland 18,011. In Canada practically half of all the cars are in Ontario.

Modes of living, state of roads, business methods and many other factors, besides standards of living, have to be considered in connection with the use of the automobile for business and pleasure. Distribution of wealth is one of the most important influences, and so is custom as to the use of wealth.

The principal significance of these automobile statistics is the same as that of all other statistics which relate to material prosperity, to wit: that the United States is the land of opportunity, the land of human well being, the land where the wealth of the average citizen is far and away above that in any other country on the face of the earth; to sum it up in brief, that this is the land of all lands where life is worth living and where every man is the maker of his own destiny.

Hundreds of thousands of working men in the United States and millions of farmers, think nothing of owning an automobile. Can anyone imagine the peasant farmers of Europe, or the laborers in European factories, possessing the luxury of an automobile? Picture the same thing in Russia, where the best there is for the average citizen is not one-tenth as good as the worst there is in the United States. There are more automobiles in Wisconsin than in the whole of France, more in California than in all of Great Britain, more in Michigan than in Germany, Italy, India, Russia, Mexico, Japan and Switzerland combined. And they are not the cars of the millionaire or the man of large income. The great majority of them belong to people of ordinary means, people who live in the humblest of homes. These comparative statistics graphically show the difference between American standards of living and those of the rest of the world.

CHICAGO A SEAPORT IN THREE YEARS

The canal which the State of Illinois is building from Lake Michigan to the Illinois river will be finished in three years. By Jan. 1, 1925, Chicago will be a port on the Gulf of Mexico.

It is not generally known that there is more freight traffic on the lower Mississippi river between St. Louis and New Orleans than ever before, and that the lines operating modern barges are earning profits. Development of waterway transportation has been so substantial in the past two or three years that recently service has been re-inaugurated between Pittsburgh and St. Louis and New Orleans.

Eastern railroads and seaports will not be wise if they oppose the St. Lawrence canal project. It is becoming more apparent every day that the Great Lakes and Mississippi river cities must and will be made seaports.

FAMINE

The number of famine deaths in Russia, to date, is estimated at 200,000, says Semashko, soviet commissar of health. Food, rushed in by the American relief expeditions, has saved the lives probably of millions.

Russians, who have been pulled out of death's clutches by American food, are bound to have a kindly feeling toward us that will be perpetuated through their descendants.

In the long run that will be more important for international brotherhood than the political relations between the Russian and American governments.

The Jewish people of Appleton are leading in a generous response by this city to the Russian appeal. It is, however, a humanitarian and not a racial appeal. We can all afford to give something to save human beings from starvation. Let us see that Appleton's quota in this great christian movement is more than filled.

HOW ABOUT CONDIMENTS
Among the condiments I hold sugar is nice, tho I'm sorry I can't say the same thing of spice. That much is implied in the original Mother Goose, for if sugar and spice had both been nice Mother Goose would have said and everything else nice; would she not?

Pepper, mustard, vinegar, horseradish, nutmeg, cinnamon, peppermint, and the various hot sauces are irritants. For example, take a young infant that squalls because his back itches or the light hurts his eyes or women are jouncing him and jiggling him about too much for his digestion. With each squall goes one spasmodic drawing up of the legs for better purchase on the noise apparatus. Enough to put any baby's digestion out of order for hours—enough, too, to make the mother real.

The younger the individual the more harmful are the condiments. Young children should not be allowed to dose their food with these irritant stimulants. Not only the stomach, but the kidneys and bladder are irritated, and that is unwise policy. The condiments harm adults by stimulating an artificial appetite which prompts the excesses of eating which are the cause of so much ill health. For one who is already overfed, that is, one whose weight is above the normal for his age and height, the addition of condiments to the food should be strictly omitted.

A natural craving for sour may be gratified by the use of the food acids. Such a natural fruit acid as that of lemons, oranges, grapefruit or limes may be used. This citric acid is really a food because it is oxidized in the body and utilized to produce a certain amount of energy; moreover one can scarcely take enough lemon juice or any of the other citrus fruit juices to injure health.

The better the food and the more skillfully it is prepared the less need is there for condiments. A glutton abuses the condiments because his sensuality has blunted or dulled his normal appetite. A normal individual has recourse to condiments to disguise or conceal the insipid taste of poorly cooked food. The more abandoned the eating house the more liberal the equipment in hot sauces.

There is no objection to the customary use of natural flavors or condiments in food, such as onion, sage, celery, parsley, mint and the like. It is the abuse of such artificial irritants as mustard, vinegar, sauces, horseradish and other fiery sauces that should be avoided, particularly when children are concerned.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
To the Editor:—

Is it possible that smoking cigars may cause kidney trouble? Are plants in a room injurious to one's health? In my room there is a large Boston fern and a windowful of other plants.—(W. F. R.)

Answer:—The excessive use of tobacco is a factor in the causation of cardiovascular degeneration, of which chronic nephritis (Bright's disease) is a frequent manifestation. But the term "kidney trouble" as popularly employed is generally inaccurate. There is no disease or trouble of the kidneys in such cases. The plants in the room are rather beneficial to your health.

Visiting in Sickness
A friend of mine has typhoid fever, a light attack. Would I run a risk in going to call on her? My parents think I should not go. Would you allow me to go? You were my father? There is quite an epidemic in our town.—(A. F. J.)

Answer:—If typhoid fever spread epidemically in the community, I think you should have you protected by immunization, and then you might visit the patient without risk. But doesn't your health department prohibit visiting when persons are isolated or ill of an infectious disease? Such a regulation should be enforced in typhoid fever.

Self Support
About four months ago I was operated on for acute appendicitis. I have never won any support or even a cord. Is there any danger in going without such support?—(Mary.)

Answer:—No. Unless your doctor particularly prescribes such a support you are wise not to adopt one. It is better to keep your own muscles doing their proper work.

Henna and the Eyes
Kindly state whether using henna powder in the hair is injurious to the eyes or the eyelids. I have been using it for two years, and during that time my sight has failed considerably.—(A. E.)

Answer:—So far as I can learn, the use of henna as a hair dye does not affect eyesight or the eyes. But I have received a great many inquiries similar to yours. Possibly henna powder irritates the eyes mechanically, just as rice powder often does.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

THE RAND DISTURBANCES

Generally universal praise is sounded by the newspapers of the country for the efficient manner in which General Jan Christian Smuts has handled the near revolution in South Africa. However there also is proclaimed a note of wonder as to the real cause of the trouble. Suggestions that there was a close kinship between the abortive revolution and the situation in Russia freely are made. "The trouble, indeed, industrial, political or a combination of all three?" asks the New York Evening WORLD. South Africa has been watched by the world since the days of Oom Paul and De Wet. It would now feel more interested in the reasons for the trouble than in the details of the military operations.

Detailing the general belief in Great Britain that the revolt was financed by Russian gold used to spread propaganda the BANGOR COMMERCIAL insists that "the due to fail because it did not have the support of the Boer population and because South Africa, if united, could not long defy the might of Great Britain, but it would have been much more serious than was had the rebels secured the assistance of the black population that evidently was counted on." The Toledo BLADE however, does not consider the trouble in any way an imperial problem. It suggests that, after all it is entirely economic. "As soon as the miners and their employers find a common ground of understanding," it continues, "the war will blow away and the imperial problem, that is not an imperial problem, will evaporate in thin air."

Praising the action of Gen. Smuts in encouraging the loyalty and co-operation of the Kaffirs the SAGINAW NEWS COURIER reviews the energetic measures used in gaining control of the situation and adds: "Had the native Kaffirs risen, however, the story might be different and it is a certainty they would have regarded the whites who initiated the revolt with as little concern as any other whites they encountered." The PITTSBURGH CHRONICLE TELEGRAM declares that "the menace of Bolshevism wherever it rears its ugly head yields to only one argument, and that is only in the application of which Gen. Smuts is a past master."

The Baltimore AMERICAN points out that since 1910 there has been an active syndicalist movement among the miners which culminated prior to the war in an abortive revolution. But the paper is by no means convinced that this was a similar proposition. "At present," it says, "it seems that Gen. Smuts' firmness has succeeded in breaking the back of the revolutionary movement—if it really was that and not merely a great strike." The CLEVELAND PLAINFIELDER also would like more light on whether this is a strike or an attempted revolution. It points out however that "the fact that the liberal tendencies of Smuts are not to be overlooked, and that the strength to the contention that the insurrectionists are seeking the complete overthrow of the established order rather than a mere correction of working conditions."

The Norfolk VIRGINIAN PILOT reviews at length the troubles that Great Britain is having with all of her overseas possessions and continues: "The situation that has developed puts the British Empire to its severest test. It has proved that it possesses the genius of imperial expansion by extending its frontiers practically to the ends of the earth. But has it the genius of empire that will enable it to hold what it has won?" But in the opinion of the ADAMANT, MICHIGAN, "the danger of a flare up of Bolshevism," could end only in one way, it is gratifying to see it ended so soon. It would be a sorry thing to see Anglo-Saxon ideas beaten by Bolshevism anywhere in the world."

"If the prosperity of the colonies is so bound up with the prosperity of the mother country," suggests the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS, "that the government is forced to back capital, justly or unjustly, with airplanes and machine guns and the rifles of man sized armies here is truly a land to be pitied. It is no great surprise that the seed of radicalism grows swiftly in such ground."

"South Africa may have seemed a good spot at which to strike Bolshevism," moralizes the PORTSMOUTH, N. H. STAR, "but England builded better than she knew when she recognized the ability of the Dutch to govern themselves and placed Jan Christian Smuts at the head of the South African government." The BALTIMORE SUN after discussing the measures taken by the Premier Smuts was compelled to use to regain control in the Rand SUN says "it was one of the ironies of fate that this man, the most humane and liberal of all the statesmen of the British Empire, should have to deal with such a situation as this. Yet, faced with the duty, he seems to be able to use every method as capably as any other general could."

"The liquidation of labor and the voicing of labor's protests in strikes are as evident on the Rand as in the coal fields of Pennsylvania and West Virginia," points out the New York GLOBE. And once again awful emphasis is placed upon the lack of adequate supervision of basic industries, the world over.

"The public and worker from exploitation alike is ruinous over production and even more ruinous consequent depression." This view does not coincide with that of the ROCK MOUNTAIN NEWS OF DENVER which says: "Moscow could not let pass such an opportunity for propaganda money was used and professional organizers sent from the London capital....to stir to mutiny, to urge the proletariat to seize the reins of power. We have not a doubt that 'Big Bill' Haywood of Colorado notoriety, who is not acquainted with the Transvaal fields, is in his element either in Moscow or at the main seat of trouble."

To Smuts goes the credit for skillful leadership," says the New York TRIBUNE. "By his fearlessness he has rendered a service to his own country and to the British Empire."

TARDIEU AN AMERICAN POLITIC
Paris. — Andre Tardieu, writing in L'Echo National discusses with a degree of sarcasm American political developments as follows: "Politics at the present time are rather dark and dreary. Let us peek then at those of its manifestations where the irony of a mysterious humor seems to be at work and do so let us take a look at America, for the discussions which are going on in the American senate with record to the Washington conventions is one of these manifestations."

"We are at the beginning of March. Two years ago, day by day, the Versailles Treaty was before the same assembly just as the Washington conventions are today. The same methods are used as in March 1920, to find out whether two thirds of the votes, indispensable for the ratification, finally will be forthcoming."

"Mr. Harding has made known to the Senate that he will not communicate the reports of the conversations which preceded the quadruple pact. In the same way Mr. Wilson refused to communicate those which had taken place at the time of the Paris negotiations."

"Article No. 2, concerning the Pacific is causing heated discussions. In 1920 the disputed question was Article X and the whole struggle centered around this."

Senate Pages

By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—The little boys one sees sitting on the double steps of the rostrum, at the feet of the Vice President in the United States Senate Chamber, are the Senate pages. Bright-faced, cheerful, manly little fellows, they were daily upon the country's statesmen, Republican and Democrat alike. They are as sharp as a keen steel blade, quick as lightning, ready and willing to "fetch" for the North and "tote" for the South, making the most of their term with a wary young eye turned toward the future.

These pages have a rather enviable position for small boys, being appointed by the Senators for a term of four years at a salary of $2.50 per diem and a bonus. They enter at the age of 12 and leave at 16, provision being made by the Senate for them to attend night school; thus for four years they are in a position to acquire a most intimate knowledge of political economy; of being able to study and to learn something of the art of oratory under the best of masters; of being acquainted with the country's statesmen and hearing their opinions publicly expressed, and of coming into intimate contact with public life.

Their pastimes and sports fill an important part in their terms; they have their football eleven and their baseball nine and last year, were the proud and triumphant winners of the silver cup given by Senator McCornack for both those sports in connection with the pages of the House of Representatives. At Christmas time it is the custom of the Vice President to give the boys a dinner, which is held with all the dignity of a grown-up function, there being no end of regular grown-up toasts and lengthy after-dinner speeches given and enjoyed by the participants. When Lehigh best Stanford in the Senate Chamber he presented each boy with a five dollar bill at the Yulctide and a dinner at his home followed by a performance given by hired talent to entertain his little guests. As a parting souvenir of such evenings, a gift of cuff buttons or some other small article designed to delight the heart of the growing youth is presented to each page. In spring when the outdoors is calling, the circus comes to town. A Senator always provides the tickets and the pink lemonade for all of the pages, and there is a happy expedition to the "big top."

Nearly every one of the pages treasures an autograph album. These contain nearly, if not all, of the signatures of the great men of the present day in official life.

The favorite pastime is a mock session of the Senate, when the pages are allowed the use of the Senate Chamber on days when the Senate is not meeting, and sometimes in the mornings of meeting days. The most important legislation ever brought before this body of junior solons is a bill to write into the statutes provision for increasing the salaries of the Senate pages manifold. One page presides in the Vice President's chair, and the session is carried on in a serious way. Visitors who drift into the galleries during these sessions invariably are so interested that they will stay to the close, astonished at the oratorical gifts displayed by some of the lads. While this is only amusement to the boys, they are gathering a presence and address certain to serve them well in the future.

There are in all 23 Senate pages—16 "regulars," 5 "temporaries," and 2 "honorary." Their duties consist of tasks that are light, varied, and divided. Some boys are assigned to duties at the beginning of the session and do not change their tasks. There must be a copy of every bill, report and document on each desk for no reason clear to us, whose normal outlook is limited to the sense of physical pain.

"Chairvoants and people who have an extension of faculty can see the forms of pet animals that have passed on following their former owners. The tendency to survival is strange, even in the animals brought nearest to man, the horse, the dog, the cat."

not progressed to the modern blotter. This same boy fills the ancient snuff boxes at each side of the Chamber—a curious old custom still adhered to by the upper body of Congress.

To two of these boys is given the honor and duty of carrying the two boxes which contain the electoral votes from the Senate Chamber to the House of Representatives, marching with the Senators to the south wing of the Capitol. Other duties cover the distribution of supplies in the Chamber and the cloak rooms.

When the Senate meets, the pages sit in a row on the rostrum steps, half on the Republican side and half on the Democratic side, ready to serve the statesmen, who call them by snapping their fingers. They take bills to the desk, announce visitors, and run the errands for the Senators.

The pages come from all over the country and from various stations of life. Some are already acquainted with official life. Others come direct from the farm. They come from the North, the South, the West. Many of them help to support widowed mothers and younger brothers and sisters.

These pages go from the Senate to West Point, to Annapolis, into banks, mercantile houses, politics, medicine, law, letters and art. They have become successes in every walk of life. One little boy who sat eager-eyed on the rostrum steps many years ago returned to the Chamber as Senator A. V. German. Another had become Chief Engineer of the Army. Stuart Kalk, credited with being the first American naval officer to lose his life in the World War, was once a Senate page. Lately a vessel was named in his honor, David Barry, now Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, formerly the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun and the Providence Journal, the Assistant Doorkeeper Carl D. Leffler, who has charge of the pages, each served his term on errands for the nation. So did Stuart Robson, the actor. On one occasion when Mr. Robson was playing in Washington, the pages, learning that he had once been a page himself, sent a testimonial to Mr. Robson. He responded with an invitation to the play and box seats for all of the boys.

Is There an After Life for Animals?
London. — A writer in the LANCET gives the following account of a lecture in London on the immortality of animals: "A notice on the door attracted my attention. A lecture will be given at 3 p. m. on 'Animals and the After Life.'"

"Strange subject for an address, I thought, and went upstairs to make an unchallenged entry into a small hall."

"Perhaps there were a hundred people present. A venerable man played a brief selection on an organ, a tall, grey-haired lady took the chair, and the lecturer, slight, grey-haired, composed seat by her side. A short tract from one of the Pauline Epistles followed the musical prelude, and the lecture started."

"Much of the effect of an address depends upon the delivery; in this case it was perfect. The lecturer's voice was low and finely modulated, so clear that it filled the room; her arguments were set out forcibly but without superfluous verbiage, an intense conviction informed her discourse."

"There is life in metals, there is a higher life in plants, in the animal kingdom we find the sympathetic nervous system which is dominant and denotes survival. Animals have astral vision, that is why they manifest uneasiness, alarm, and other emotions for no reason clear to us, whose normal outlook is limited to the sense of physical pain."

"Chairvoants and people who have an extension of faculty can see the forms of pet animals that have passed on following their former owners. The tendency to survival is strange, even in the animals brought nearest to man, the horse, the dog, the cat."

Tiny Freight Cars Of 35 Years Ago Sidetracked Here

Two freight cars of 40,000 pounds capacity, which 35 years ago attracted more attention because of their size than the modern mogul locomotive, were temporarily sidetracked in Appleton Friday. It is only occasionally they are now seen in this part of the country and they will still continue to attract attention, especially of the older railroad men, but in a different way.

"I remember when the average freight car had a capacity of only 30,000 pounds," said Jerry Callahan, who has charge of the warehouse at the depot of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Co. in recalling the early days of railroad service.

"The capacity of the freight cars 35 years ago ranged all the way from 24,000 to 40,000 pounds," said Mr. Callahan, "and the smaller ones were only 24 feet long. The modern freight cars has a capacity of 120,000 pounds and is over 40 feet long."

In speaking of overloading cars in the early days, Mr. Callahan recalled an instance at Hilbert, where a furniture car was loaded with barley consigned to an Appleton firm. There were no scales at Hilbert and when the car reached Menasha it was found to contain 113,000 pounds. The slides were bulged out and the greatest precaution had to be taken to get it to its destination.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE MAYOR'S OFFICE

The mayor is largely an advisory official. The council makes the ordinances. The mayor has no vote except in case of a tie.

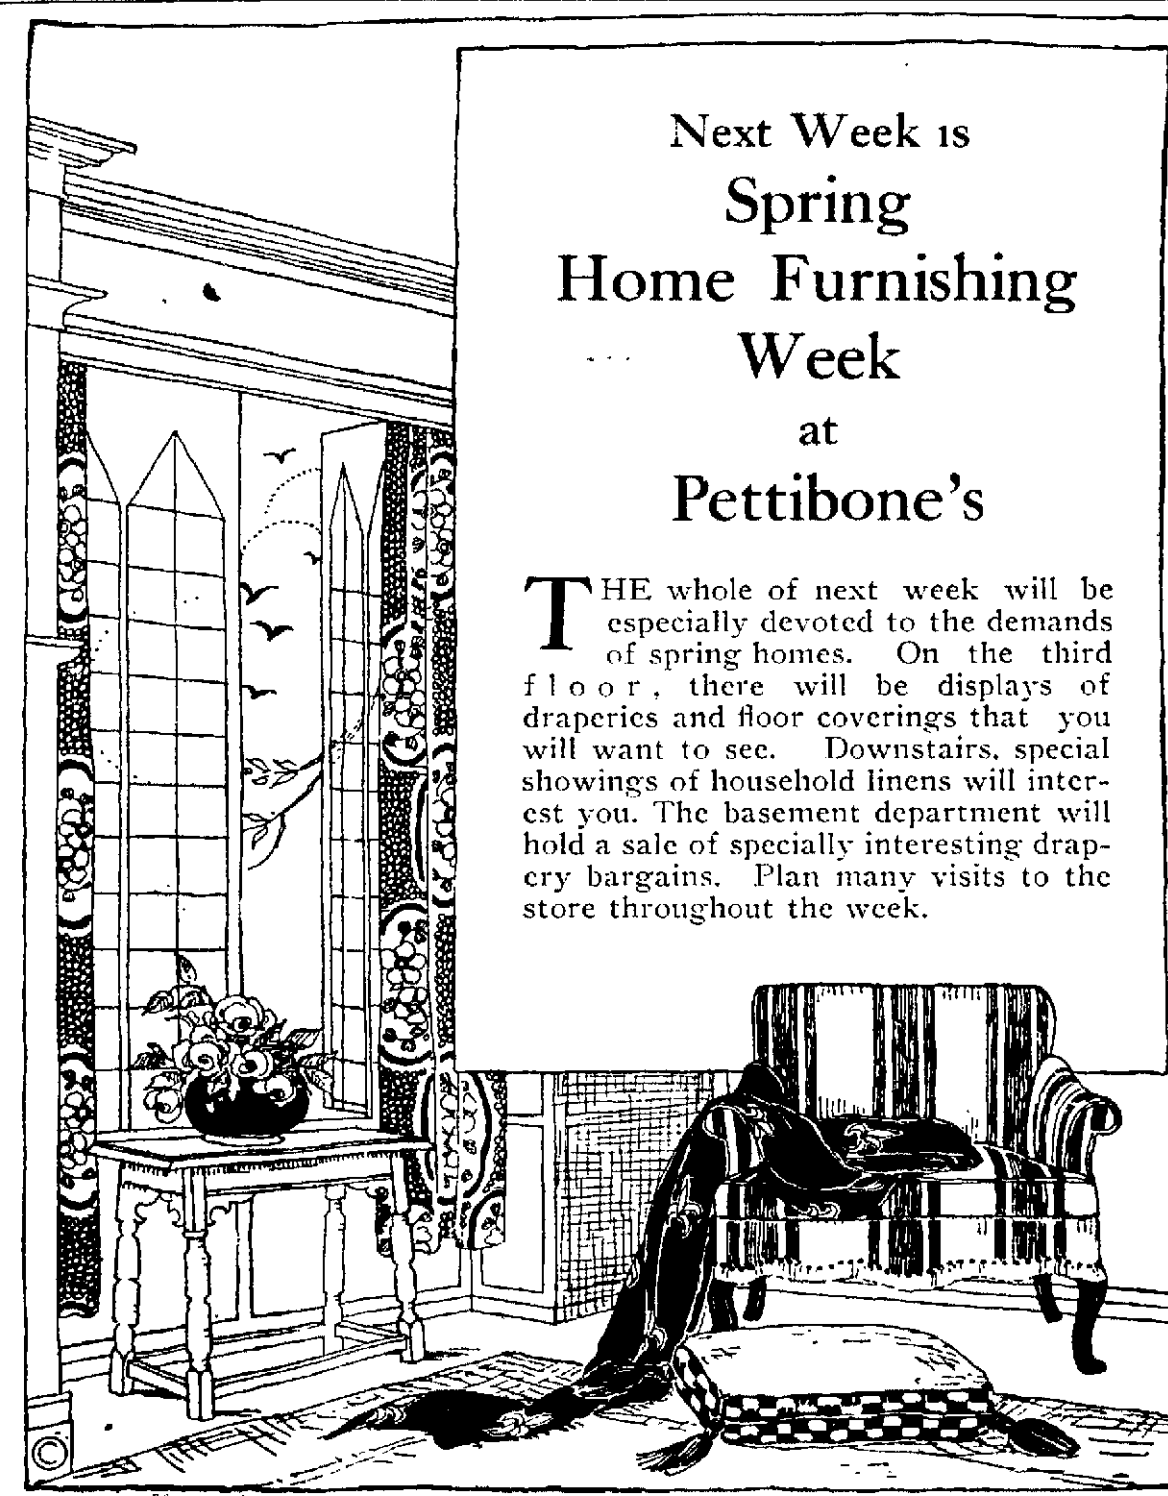

The experience of the mayor, his sound business training, his ability to work out civic problems, will be helpful to the council in bringing out its best thought and action. In the common council lies the real power in the city hall.

Let us have a practical man in the office of mayor who can work in sympathy with the council and thereby accomplish the greatest possible good for the largest number of people.

NEW LONDON MAN HELD FOR TRYING TO MURDER WIFE

Matt Joseph Arrested When Wife's Screams Attract Neighbors

New London—Matt Joseph, a grocer of this city, is in the county jail at Waupaca, awaiting trial in the June term of circuit court on the charge of attempted murder. Screams issuing from the Joseph home last Saturday evening attracted neighbors to the scene and Officer Stern was summoned. He forced an entrance and found Mrs. Joseph severely cut and very weak from loss of blood from several slashes made by a steel table knife in the hands of her husband. Medical aid was immediately procured for Mrs. Joseph, and her husband was taken into custody. He was given a preliminary hearing before Justice A. W. Miller on Monday afternoon, and was bound over to circuit court. Bail was fixed at $5000.

Hall of Appleton, the Rev. C. W. Heywood of Neenah, the Rev. Mr. Cannon of Antigo, and the Rev. A. W. Triggs of Fort Atkinson. J. W. Wolters, accompanied by Miss Elsie Schiele, rendered two vocal solos—"Face to Face" and "Still, Still with Thee." Members of the Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges, of each of which organizations the Rev. Mr. Lewis was a member, attended in a body. The building could not afford even standing room to the members who thronged to the church. About fifty Manawa friends of the deceased were present at the services. The Rev. Lewis was stationed at Manawa for three years before being assigned to the New London church.

A delegation of Masons accompanied the body on the afternoon train to Appleton where it was committed to a receiving vault. The burial service was conducted by the Masonic order, and six members of the order acted as pallbearers. They were Superintendent D. N. Newberry, W. B. Viel, Thomas G. Roberts, A. H. Knoke, C. D. MANY CANDIDATES SEEKING OFFICE

Kaukauna Voters Will Have Plenty of Opportunity to Make Selection

Kaukauna—Prospective candidates for city offices who did not file nomination papers before midnight Thursday are "out of luck" as far as their entrance into politics is concerned. Mrs. Elizabeth Buerth, candidate for city treasurer, and S. Norton, candidate for alderman in the Fourth ward, are among those whose papers were filed before Thursday evening.

Kaukauna voters will have an exceptional opportunity this year to make selections since there are more than 20 candidates for nearly every office. Two men are running for mayor, 6 for city treasurer and four for assessor. Four men are aspiring for the position previously occupied by Ernest Landreman as alderman in the Third ward. The first ward voters will have a choice of three men from which to elect their next alderman: Joseph Hurst, and Otto Hass will be unopposed in the Fifth and Second wards respectively.

From a slate of 13 candidates, 7 persons will be elected to the new consolidated school board.

Women voters will be a big factor in this year's election. It is estimated that the usual Kaukauna vote will be nearly doubled.

The presentation address was given by Miss Eleanor Lundquist, member of the faculty. Cups also were offered by Theodore Heegeman and A. Lang for the pupils scoring the highest number of points. Dorothy Golden, Nichols school pupil, received a cup from the Heegeman jewelry store as the girl who scored the most points. Putnam, respectively, have all filed papers for reelection. Andrew Anderson and August Elunker are candidates for assessor. The terms of the aldermen from the first and fifth ward expire this spring, but no one has qualified as a candidate in the first ward. AUTOMOBILE NEWS

NOW IS TIME TO GIVE YOUR TIRES GOOD INSPECTION

Everything Should be Ship
Shape Before Taking Out
the Car in Spring

The time is at hand when car owners will begin to give their cars a thorough overhauling in preparation for summer use. The attention required for tires in this spring renovation is very limited and simple.

One of the first and important points, says a bulletin of the United States Tire Company, is to get the front wheels into proper alignment. Bad alignment is one of the principal causes for tire injury. The first symptom of misalignment is rapid wear in the center of the tread. Examination of the alignment should include an investigation to see that there are no loose bearings, for a loose bearing means a wobbly wheel.

Examine the casings of tire for cuts. If cuts are filled with a sealant, the cuts will not grow bigger.

Tubes should receive special attention, for once they have been placed inside the casings they are forgotten. Test the tubes for slow leaks. Put new plungers in the valves, even if the old ones appear satisfactory. The rubber washers in the plungers become stiff and hard after a time and it is a good policy to change them at least once a year.

The pump should be tested, especially the rubber tubing and the connections. If the leather piston head in your hand pump has dried up it may be softened up by a liberal application of vasoline. If it is gone beyond help you can get a new leather at a supply store. The same advice as to inspection of connections applies in the case of a mechanical pump attached to the engine. See that the pump is well oiled, especially in the cylinder, but avoid excess oil as it may find its way into the inner tube.

When these few things have been done and the motorist has equipped his car with a cold patch kit for punctures, blowout patch for emergency use, a can of soap stone, a roll of tape for tire or ignition trouble, a tire gauge for testing inflation and a good spare he is in a position to feel thoroughly content as regards his tire equipment, no matter what happens.

Seek Proper Name For The Wild Driver

Believing that there is need for an outstanding and pointed term for reckless automobile drivers — a term that will at once convey ridicule and opprobrium — the American Automobile association has therefore inaugurated a campaign to unearth a fitting sobriquet.

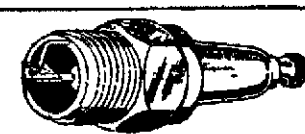

The plan of the A. A. A. is to brand reckless motorists with a name that will be as comprehensive and become as popular as the term "jay-walker," which is now applied to the careless pedestrian. For such a term the organization is offering $25 in cash. The hunt is to be conducted in contest form and all persons having what they consider a suitable appellation for reckless motorists are invited to submit their choice to national headquarters of the A. A. A. at Washington.

The millions of orderly and careful motorists in the country suffer because of the few thousands who are rowdy and careless. A name is wanted to show these drivers that they do not "belong." Police records show that a heavy percentage of accidents are due to the recklessness of pedestrians, but that places a further responsibility upon the motorist to take extra precautions for safety.

The contest, which is open to all, will close on May 15 and the award will be made on May 29. Persons wishing to submit names should address Contest Editor, American Automobile association, 1108 Sixteenth street, Washington, D. C.

PERFECT SPARK TEST

Actual conditions inside the cylinder, in testing a spark plug outside, can be equaled by placing a piece of mica between the electrodes. The mica should be about 3-8 inch wide, around which the spark has to jump, making a wider gap in open air equal the narrow gap in the much denser cylinder gas.

Country clubs for motorists are being organized in England.

AUTO PRICES ARE ON STEADY LEVEL, MAKERS REPORT

Manufacturers Have Stabilized
Prices and Production in Last Few Months

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce issues the following important information on prices taken from the Guaranty Survey, published monthly by the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

"Approximate stabilization of automobile prices is believed in the industry to have been definitely reached. The average price of forty-nine of the principal standard touring car models is now 22 per cent below the average price on Sept. 1, 1920, but the price of the greater quantity of cars sold represents a much greater reduction, some as much as 42 1/2 per cent. This reduction has been brought about by a series of price cuts spread over more than a year, so that we now stand at what appears to be the end of the period of price revision rather than at the beginning. In view of known improvements and refinements in the product, no comparison of present prices with those of 1913 is possible or significant.

"This conclusion is based not only upon the amount of the average price reduction that has taken place, but also upon the progressively smaller price cuts made recently by leading manufacturers. Furthermore, at least six manufacturers have raised their prices since the first of the year, and there is justification for the belief in an apparent stabilization of the costs of the chief materials entering into automobile manufacture. Many people believe that the prices of raw materials entering into the manufacture of automobiles have reached bottom. In the case of some of these materials a renewal of the upward price trend has been manifested. The average price of metals and metal products is now nearer the 1913 level than that of any of the nine groups, except farm products, for which the bureau of labor statistics compiles price data. It appears, therefore, improbable that automobile production costs can go materially lower for some time.

LENS KEEP LIGHT DOWN

By a series of laminated glass planes, a new form of lens is said to direct all upward rays downward as shown above by the line A-C-D.

Horizontal rays pass through the glass unbroken, as shown by A-B. Downward rays strike a non-reflecting surface to prevent upward reflection.

tion costs can go materially lower for some time.

"Inventories have been well liquidated in the automobile industry and the industry brought to a sound position, where no justification of further general price reduction appears to exist."

Detroit has 20 foundries and two rolling mills supplying metals for automobiles made there.

Eighteen cities in the United States have 50 or more motor vehicles for postal use.

Average price of American automobiles is $745.

BUILDS MACHINE SHOP ON A DODGE CHASSIS

A Boston machinery salesman, looking for something new in the line of high power salesmanship, has struck on the novel idea of mounting a complete machine shop attachment on the rear of a Dodge Brothers roadster. With it he goes on his daily round of calls, and the peculiar device is becoming a familiar sight in all the highways.

The rear of the Dodge Brothers roadster carries, among other apparatus, a grinding machine, which can be used in shops and garages for grinding pistons, valves, wrist pins, or any kind of general machine work. Forty feet of wire is always carried which may be plugged into an electric socket, so that immediate operation is possible almost anywhere.

Lee H. Campbell, the owner, is using the machine shop on wheels as an ingenious method of boosting his sales. He is now establishing dealers to buy the complete outfit, and they in turn will canvass the shops and garages. Mr. Campbell finds his Dodge Brothers roadster highly satisfactory in his selling and demonstrating work.

In many other lines for selling and demonstrating various products have been attached to Dodge Brothers cars — which were chosen as a reliable and convenient means of transportation.

REO MOTOR ESTABLISHES RECORD FOR EFFICIENCY

A remarkable example of the efficiency of the motor in the Reo Speed Wagon is cited by Edward Schneider of the Appleton Motor company, who has just received an account of the remarkable test to which the Reo was recently subjected. The test was conducted on a triple combination, first truck for Spangler, Pa.

The Speed Wagon is widely used for mounting fire equipment owing to the fact that the motor is regarded as one of the most dependable for pumping as well as for the speed of the vehicle. This test, which was conducted under the auspices of the Underwriters, resulted in some figures which are almost unbelievable. The motor was given a 30-minute run on full throttle after a 12-hour non-stop test. During this period of 30 minutes the Speed Wagon motor delivered 344 gallons at a pressure of 122 pounds. The significance of these figures is understood when it is realized that 272 gallons is considered a good record at 120 pounds pressure.

Chauffeurs in Missouri must show two photographs of themselves with their driver's application.

Quality Goes Clear Through

DORT PRODUCTION IS GROWING BY BOUNDS

Production figures just received from the Dort Motor Company of Flint by William Timm of the South Side garage, local dealer, indicate a very healthy state of affairs as the spring season opens up. The figures for the month of January show an increase in production of 336 per cent as compared with the same month of 1921. This indicates how the popularity of the present models has captured the public demand and how every resource of the company has responded to the situation.

February production figures offer substantial proof that the increase is not merely a passing fluctuation. For further analysis, however, the fact that production for February of this year shows an increase of 150 per cent over January. Orders on hand for March delivery will further boost the production to 229 per cent above February.

In sending out this statement, J. D. Dort, President of the Dort Motor Company, predicts a very encouraging outlook for the many innovations introduced this year in the finer Dort cars.

Buick First Again
In Yellowstone Park!

Each year since Yellowstone Park was opened to automobile travel by the U. S. Government, more Buicks have made this difficult trip than any other car excepting Ford.

The figures for 1921, just announced, show 1871 Buicks passed through the Park during that season, 412 more than any other make.

The Yellowstone Park tour calls for every ounce of car performance—miles away from service for days at a time—the car must never fail. And that is why each year an increasing number of Park tourists depend on Buick.

Buick cars measure up to Buick reputation.

Never Had Finer Girls Than Flappers Of 1922

Vassar Dean Declares

Modern Girl is Not Selfish, Vain Nor Wicked, According to Woman Who Has Worked With Girls for 37 Years.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y. — "American girls of 1922 are better fitted to become the mothers of the race than the girls of any previous generation."

This is the opinion of Dean Ella McCaleb of Vassar college.

Miss McCaleb has held an executive position at Vassar for the last 37 years and during the entire period has been in close touch with the girl students.

Girls who attend Vassar come from every part of the country. Many come with the habit of satin slippers and gossamer stockings in winter; bare knees, bobbed hair and touched-up lips. They come 18-year-old flappers, with just the old exaggerations which you see every day on the street.

NEVER HAD FINER GIRLS

And Dean McCaleb wears no rose-colored glasses when she considers them. Yet she says of the girl of today:

"America has never had a finer set of mothers and wives in the making than today's girls."

"They are not flippant. They are not hardened or coarsened. They are not less modest. They are above all things neither lazy nor selfish."

"Girls do queer things sometimes," continued Dean McCaleb, "but they do not mean to be grotesque."

"For instance, when you see an especially short and tight skirt on a girl, one so extreme that it is ugly, it doesn't mean that there is any virtue lacking in the makeup of the girl."

"It means simply," explained the dean, "that she neither sat down nor walked around when she selected her skirt!"

"Girls' mistakes in regard to dress are most of them sins of omission."

They give an effect hasty consideration from only one angle.

"And after you buy a dress, you know, you can't discard it right away!" Dean McCaleb smiled. "Personally I'd rather she knickers than short, tight skirts."

"That brings to my mind another thing about modern girls; they are not extravagant!"

"A great deal is heard about the wastefulness of the modern girl. She isn't wasteful and she's clever about her economics. She has a good portion of hard sense under her coiffure. It has been developed by freedom and responsibility."

"I believe in a certain amount of freedom for girls. They may be put on their honor as soon as they are old enough to discriminate. This develops better moral fiber."

FINE AS GRANDMOTHERS

"The three prime requisites of the fine womanly woman are:

"1. Honesty.
"2. Purpose.
"3. Sympathy."

"The average girl of 1922 possesses these qualities. I see them in the girls who have a singularly serious idea of life and are trying to work out some idea of service, in spite of all the talk to the contrary."

"That a girl leaves her knees bare is no sign of lacking moral strength. Personally I frown on bare knees because they are neither pretty nor warm at this time of the year."

"That a girl's hair is bobbed is no indication that she isn't intellectual."

"That she uses rouge indicates no spiritual deficiency."

"Vassar discourages such habits and so should I, personally, but," says Dean McCaleb, "these are purely external things. They have nothing whatever to do with the mental or spiritual girl. They might be accounted for in the fact that girls are peculiarly sensitive to public sentiment. They do not like to go against it, so they follow fashion."

"However, the girls of 1922 are as fine a lot of girls as the grandmothers ever dared be!"

NEW FASCINATOR TYPE

Anybody who was alive and old enough to take notice of the sartorial doings of womankind during the prudish eighties and the modest nineties, will recall without effort the "fascinators" with which lovely woman was wont to swathe her head in winter, her shoulders in milder weather.

Fashioned of yards both soft and otherwise—"ice wool," an especially prickly variety, was esteemed as ultra-smart—these little shawls, capes and scarfs were as essential a part of a maiden's equipment as today her many sweaters are.

Times have changed, and so have women. Today the veriest neophyte at Fashion's shrine knows too much to bundle up her head and spoil her silhouette. Hoods and head wrappings may be cosy, but they are scarcely picturesque. And the modern girl knows that it is far more important to be always graceful, always picturesque, than even to be beautiful.

Perhaps the cleverest idea of the "jeune fille" has had, this season is the fascinator scarf which is a part of her frock—a scarf that cannot be dropped or lost, that hangs, floating panel-wise, below the hem of her skirt if she chooses to ignore it, but is thrown carelessly about her throat or wrapped gracefully about her arms to suit her whim.

Manipulated by any ordinarily intelligent young person this latest scarf arrangement becomes a superfascinator which makes the memory of the 1880 type of fascinator seem about as coquettish as a nun's habit.

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 70—Simon's
BY ZOE BECKLEY

Violet and Barry, in a taxi cab, made their slow way through a dancing city. Every few streets bands of merry-makers sprang up on the mingling, boisterous throng, laughing faces into the cab and invited the two to come out and dance, or pelted them with confetti and flowers.

They reached a hopeless jam. The poor old cabbie, with streaming face, besought high heaven to witness he could go no further and fired volleys of picturesque argot.

"Drive on!" cried Barry to the cabman, who started forward, up to the heights of Butte Chaumont. At last they saw Simon's.

A small, little house it was, of chucked cement, set in a starved yard boasting one garbled and twisted map. The windows had a peering, furtive look, set up high as they were, so that those outside could not see in, while those within could see out.

Inside the narrow door was a bar with a rusty hanging lantern, and presided over by Simon with an impenetrable mask of a face, and his assistant, a youth dressed in a self-conscious get-up of apache-bulging corduroys, black cotton shirt, red sash and neckerchief. Violet and Barry passed through the little bar and ascended three steps into a room thick with tobacco smoke and packed with people.

It was lighted from overhead—a strong electric bulb, draped with a rag of red cheesecloth, the glare descending strongest in the center, leaving the corners of the room dim and mysterious. Rough tables—mere boards over trestles—were thickly set, and men and women sat about on stools, benches and wooden boxes on end. Some of the men were full dressed with a tendency to loudness. Others were of the bearded rusty type, who work when they have to and frequent back streets in preference to highways. They spoke in sharp, staccato voices, in the pinched patois of the apache, almost incomprehensible to Violet, though she knew French well. The women, like the men were young, a few good looking in a bold fashion, with wavy, untidy hair and garish houses open at the throat. Two or three were entirely in black faces overworn, eyes overbright.

Everyone who entered was subjected to scrutiny, sometimes with narrowed eyes, disapproving and hostile. Violet and Barry tried to find an inconspicuous corner, but had to be content with places at a long bench under the light's full glare. The waiter came instantly to take their order. Barry tactfully ordered beer such as the others were drinking, and invited the proprietor, old Simon, to join them, which he did to the extent of sipping a bit of the foam from Barry's glass.

The crowd had begun to call on one of its favorites—a thin, unwholesome looking chap in the harness of a Bohemian—long, flopping hair, a velvet coat with the collar of his white shirt turned over it, a brilliant bandanna knotted loosely baggy, baggy trousers that flapped grotesquely. He recited something of his own in atrocious verse, leaning unpleasantly in the direction of Violet and Barry. Barry glared, Violet felt a score of sharp eyes upon her. A laugh came from somewhere. She saw Barry's hands clench.

"George, don't! I implore you not to notice anything. It doesn't disturb me. I—I'm enjoying it."

PRINCESS FINDS NEW YORK BEST CITY IN WORLD

Only Place on Universe Which Makes Rumanian Girl Feel Afraid

BY RUTH ABELING

New York—"New York is the city I love better than any other. Because. New York is the only city which makes me fear. I am afraid of New York!"

That is Henriette Sava-Goli's opinion of America's greatest city. Henriette is a Rumanian princess. She was educated in London and has visited practically every large city in Europe.

She is the author of three French plays, "The Only Truth," "The Abyss" and "The Vagabond." Her Rumanian plays are "Rheea," "The Blue Jug" and "The Sacrifice."

"New York is the only city I fear. It is terrific!" says the princess.

"Paris! Paris! Paris is a dream. You love Paris as you love a sweetheart." London?

"London is a maid of the mist—no, London is very aristocratic, it is a Lady of the Mist."

Rome? "You feel that Rome is a mother. You would go there to remain awhile. And then you would go out to rove and conquer. But always you would go back to Rome."

Venice? "Venice is the universal dream-land. In a skit entitled 'The Girl and the Goof' will headline the six act vaudeville program at Fischer's Apolito theatre tomorrow. They are refined and clever funnakers with an offering out of the ordinary."

Robbins, Nylm and Robbins in an episode of speed, grace and agility "A Whirl, a Twirl and a Girl" will be the extra added feature.

Other acts will include Eric and Pearl, blackface comics in a laughable skit "The Sardine Farm"; Thompson and Berrie, comedy singing, chatter and dancing. J. Hinds, ventriloquist and Van and Howard in a combination of burlesque magic, contortion and acrobatics.

Three short comedy pictures will be shown.

"Frail" Lad Sets Record In Athletics

Seattle.—Bob Hesketh, University of Washington freshman, has won almost enough athletic letters to make a whole alphabet and besides he's working his way through the university and carrying a heavy academic course.

Two years ago Hesketh, a frail looking lad, turned out for athletics at Lincoln High school here. He made the basketball team. Also the baseball nine.

Meanwhile he played tennis and was picked as second best school player.

Then Hesketh became tackle on a football team. Then he annexed the city championship for high and low hurdle.

He's going to repeat the whole program this spring he says.

She will represent Canada at the Pan-American Conference of Women to be held April 28 in Washington, as well as at the national convention of the League of Women Voters to be held April 20 to 29 at Baltimore.

Though Mrs. Small is one of the first women in Canadian political life, she is American-born. Her sister is Mrs. John Boyd of Washington and Mrs. Florence Kelley of New York is her aunt.

Cheese Cakes

HEESE cakes make nice desserts for luncheon or dinner. They are especially appreciated by the cook when "pleasure" groups, soured. These are real English recipes but the pounds and ounces have been worked out in tablespoons and cups for the American housewife.

Simmer rice flour in milk for half an hour, stirring to prevent burning. Add butter, sugar, lemon rind, eggs well beaten and salt. Stir and cook by the side of the fire until the mixture thickens.

Let cool slightly and pour into patty pans lined with the pie dough. Sprinkle currants on top of each cake and bake half an hour in a hot oven. If the oven does not bake well on the bottom partially bake the crust before filling with cheese cake mixture.

LEMON CHEESE CAKE This rule will make two dozen and a half cheese cakes. The mixture will keep several weeks if stored in a dry, cool place in a tightly covered jar.

One pound of sugar, ¼ cup butter, 6 eggs, 3 lemons, finely shredded candied peel.

Use the grated rind of two lemons and the juice of three. Put sugar, lemon rind and strained juice and butter in a smooth sauce pan and stir over hot water over very slow fire until the sugar is dissolved.

Beat yolks of eggs and add slowly to first mixture. Stir and cook slowly until mixture thickens. Let cool before using. Line patty pans with rich crust. Fill them about three-quarters full with the mixture, add a few strips of the candied peel and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven. (Copyright, 1922 NEA Service)

Adventures of the Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

Box-Kites' Story Nancy and Nick and Buskins sat quite still while the Fairy Queen was hearing the troubles of all the kite people from the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air.

"Who is next?" she asked. "Us," answered two box-kites, stepping timidly forward.

"We," corrected the Queen. "Yes, we," nodded one of the kites. "But we're so nervous we forgot our grammar."

"Why what is the trouble?" asked the Queen kindly. "What are you afraid of?"

"We don't want to be sent back, if you please," explained the kites. "You see, we spoiled the talk."

"I haven't the least idea what you are talking about," declared the Fairy Queen. "Suppose you begin at the first and tell me all about it."

"Well," said one of the kites, "it was this way. As we are box-kites we go very high up into the air, and being strong, we can carry a great deal of weight. So Mr. Pettigrew thought of a plan to use us in advertising. Mr. Pettigrew is manager of the Snow Soap Company. So he got eleven of us and put an electric light in each one. As we all had different letters, at night when we were sent up into the sky with our lights burning, we spelled out the words 'Use Snow Soap.' I had an 'S' on me and my friend here had a 'W' as you can see. But one night our lights went out. There we were up in the sky, spelling 'Use No Soap,' and the children were tickled to pieces when they looked out of their windows at bed time and saw us. Mr. Pettigrew was furious, so my friend and I broke away and came here. Please don't send us back. It wasn't our fault."

"I'll write a note to Mr. Pettigrew," said the Fairy Queen. "You need not be alarmed about returning to your friends."

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is PREVARICATE. It's pronounced — pre-var-i-kayt, with accent on the second syllable. It means—to evade the truth, to give an ambiguous answer, to quibble, to deviate from the truth.

It comes from—Latin "prevaricari," to walk crookedly.

Companion word—prevarication. It's used like this—"As the prosecutor fired question after question, the witness was inclined to prevaricate."

LEARN A WORD Today's word is HIEROGLYPHIC. It's pronounced — hye-ro-glyp-hic, with accent on the third syllable. It means—Egyptian picture writing, secret writing, unintelligible or illegible scribbling.

It comes from—Greek "hieros," holy, and "glyphein," to inscribe. It's used like this—"Most bank signatures look like hieroglyphics."

Household Hints

SET COLORS Before washing any fabric which will fade set the color by letting the material soak in strong salt water for a short time. The proportion should be a cup of salt to five quarts of water.

MACHINE GREASE Machine grease can be removed from cotton fabric by washing in cold rain water and soap.

WASHCLOTH HINT If the washcloths are constantly found on the floor because the small folks don't take time to hang them up by the rather fuzzy loops or fabric found on them invest in some small ivory rings and sew one to each washcloth. They can be hung up easily then.

SCALING FISH The fish can be scaled easier if they are first dipped into boiling water.

WICKS If you dislike the smell of the wick when it burns in the lantern hold it in alcohol and thoroughly dry before using.

PARLOR FUN FOR EVERYONE

GLASS LIKE PAPER MATERIALS: Thin sheet of glass, tub of water, scissors.

PROBLEM: To cut the glass with the scissors.

SOLUTION: The secret of this lies in the fact that the glass will not break or crack while being cut under water. The water deadens the vibrations of the glass and scissors. The whole hand, all of the scissors and the glass must be completely immersed to assure success of this experiment.

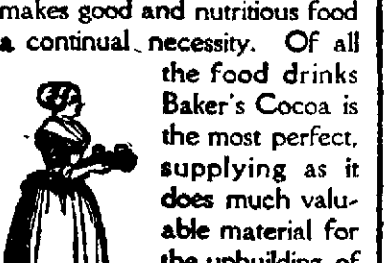

FOR EMERGENCIES Keep a crochet hook on your dressing table. It will be found exceedingly useful when a piece of tape or ribbon slips through its casing.

77 EXAMINED FOR ROAD PATROLMEN; DEFER CONTRACTS
 Salaries of Superintendent and New Patrolmen Are Cut by Committee

More applications were received this year than at any time in the past by the county state road and bridge committee for jobs as patrolmen on county trunk highways. Seventy-seven men were examined Friday at the court house by the committee and appointments will be announced soon. There were as many as seven men after the jobs in some districts.

The reverses suffered by farmers due to low prices and poor business conditions are believed to account for the demand for highway appointments.

A cut of approximately $50 a month in the salary of the superintendent of patrolmen was ordered by the committee. This official will be engaged at a meeting to be held April 10 and he will be paid $150 a month. The salary of patrolmen who served in other years and are reengaged will remain at $150 a month. New men, however, will be paid $125 the first month and then will be increased to a maximum of $140.

Applications to the committee to add new sections to the county patrol system had to be turned down this year because the appropriation will take care of only the trunk roads already authorized.

No contracts for the construction of new roads were awarded. Bids for the Seymour-Angelica rd. were rejected because they were not figured according to past specifications. New bids will be advertised for and the work assigned later.

Brogan & Schaefer, contractors, Green Bay, were low bidders for the Shiocton-Stephensville road project but authorizing of this contract was put over until the meeting of April 10.

The 635 count was the only high score made in singles Friday. Manitowoc maple busters who rolled singles in Friday's sessions bowled as follows:

A. Schitze, 534; M. Bigel, 550; F. Rousser, 546; F. Dusold, 471; G. Andres, 497.

FIVE-MAN EVENT

Appleton, Manitowoc, and Green Bay five-man teams shot all the prize money Friday. The highest score of the day in the event was 2,697 made by the Tweet-Tweets of Manitowoc. The Civil War Veterans of Appleton shot for a count of 2,438, the Appleton Wood Products Co. team hit 2,449, the Massouist Siam aggregation of Green Bay rolled a score of 2,243 and the Scoll Brothers of Appleton bowled 2,195.

Heinemann of Appleton topped 933 pins in the doubles event. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Adelt bowled a score of 759 and Miller and Taggart of Appleton cracked a total of 759 maps.

Saturday and Sunday are big days in the tournament. Bowling started at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will continue until after 11 o'clock Saturday night. Sunday's session will get underway at 8 o'clock in the morning and continue until 12 o'clock at night. Green Bay and La Crosse bowlers are scheduled to roll Saturday while Wausau and Green Bay teams are on the chart for Sunday. It is probable Kenosha maple busters will be here to roll Sunday.

LEWIS REFUSES TO WRESTLE BIG FIN

A report from Boston that Champion Ed. (Strangler) Lewis, turned down an offer of $5,000 to wrestle Armas Latinen, the Finnish heavyweight champion at the Greco-Roman style, has been confirmed by promoter George Touchey, the Boston impresario.

"Not for ten times the offer would I step into the ring with the Finn at his own method of wrestling," was Lewis' answer. "I have too much sense to tackle that bird, unless I can put the fear of toe-holds into him. That in my estimation is the only way any of our best American men can ever hope to win over him. He is far too speedy, strong and clever for us at his own game and I for one will not be dragged into a ring with him except at the good old American fashion. Let those that want to experiment with the 'buzz saw' do so. I am willing right now to bet a good sized piece of dough that Zyzysko, who has accepted a match under those rules with the Finn at Milwaukee, will come out second best, and Zyzysko knows more of the European wrestling rules than any one on this side of the pond."

Lewis' answer indicates just why the Polo tried to duck the Milwaukee match and no doubt he would have succeeded but for the ultimatum of Manager Gresh of the Auditorium that Zyzysko would never be permitted to appear in the building again if he did not go through with his contract to wrestle Latinen.

STRONG MENASHA BALL TEAM IS REORGANIZED

The Menasha River Valley baseball team has been reorganized for the 1922 season and is open for games. The team won 20 out of 26 games last year and will have a stronger aggregation in the field this season. For game managers should write to Steve Cully, Menasha.

LANDIS SEES BIG BALL SEASON AHEAD

Supreme Dictator of National Game Says Players Are Eager to Start

New Orleans, La.—Former Federal Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, who is in New Orleans, predicts a great season.

"This should be a wonderful season," said Landis. "Every camp I visited I found the teams in splendid condition and all eager for the game. I saw a great game the other day between the Boston Braves and the Senators. I'll tell you, Peckinpaugh makes all the difference in the world with that club. The men are fighting, keenly alert and ready to go. If they are any pitching they will make trouble for any team in the league. The Braves look very good, also. They are a hard fighting crew."

"I felt sorry for Walter Johnson. The famous hurler is down in bed with influenza, and is really sick. It may be several months before he recovers, and that will make a great difference with that club."

"Baseball is striding along as the fans would have it stride. The game is the greatest institution in the country, outside of the country itself. Baseball has followed the flag. It exports a civilizing influence, as in the Philippine islands and elsewhere. Savage people took up the game and became Americans at heart. The players are going to keep this sport clean and above suspicion and the men in authority are going to aid them. It needs no guardian saint. It will carry on because it is baseball, and because it is 100 per cent American."

YANKEES WEAK AT THIRD BASE

Bad Legs May Force Frank Baket Out of Running for Position on Team

New Orleans, La.—The New York infield will consist of Wallie Pipp at first, Aaron Ward at second, Everett Schott, formerly of the Boston Red Sox, at short and J. Franklin Baker at third.

Except at short, where Scott replaces the veteran Roger Peckinpaugh, this is the same combination as that which started the 1921 campaign, and except during periods of enforced inactivity for Baker, remained intact practically throughout the season.

The only apparent weakness in this arrangement is at third base, where Baker is thought to be too brittle to survive the wear and tear of another strenuous race.

Baker is getting old, as baseball players measure age, and his legs are none too good. Injuries to his legs forced him out of the game for long periods at more than one critical stage of the 1921 pennant pursuit. It is feared that he will be the victim of the same fate again this year.

Fortunately for their chances of winning another pennant, however, the Yankees are well equipped with extra infielders. Mike McNally, who played so brilliant a game after replacing Baker last season, again is available for service. Huggins also has McMillan, a most promising youngster, in reserve.

Chicago—The Illinois Athletic club with sixty four points, won the central A. A. U. indoor track championship Friday night. Chicago A. A. with fifty-nine points and Illinois university with four points were second and third.

PUBLICITY SENDS ROOKIE TO MINORS

Glen Killinger, Grid Star, Fails to Make Grade With New York Yanks

By Henry L. Farrell
New York—Great football player that he is, Glen Killinger, the Penn state sensation of 1921, couldn't do his stuff in baseball.

A victim, perhaps of too much publicity, the all-American back of last fall has been dropped by the New York Yanks to the Jersey City club in the International league.

The Ivory sorters at the New Orleans camp said "Killy" couldn't get them below his knees and he couldn't time his swing. He made a game effort but he was just a novice on the diamond. It might have been that his faults were accentuated because too much was expected of him. Being "good copy" for the newspapermen, they pushed him out in the front rank of the rookies when he might have fared far better in an obscure place.

The same misfortune may follow him to his minor league berth. If he decides to go through the polishing machinery of baseball. The fans around the international circuit will expect just as much of him as the big time bugs and everything he does will be under the glass.

New York—Student daily papers at Harvard and Yale recommend a reduction of the football schedule to five or six games, no intercollegiate games and the discontinuance of pre-term practice.

Paris—Andre Gobert, French tennis star, defeated I. C. Norton, South African star, in the Paris-London inter-city tournament.
